

Advisory Alignment Program Pilot

A 2-Phase Advisory Training - Available June 1, 2026

Turn the promise of advisory into practice.

Every student deserves to feel seen, to matter, and to belong. Advisory is where that happens, but only if the program is designed well and advisors have the skills to deliver on it. This two-phase program gives your school the structure and the people development to make advisory work.

THE TWO-PHASE PROGRAM

Phase 1 - Leadership Team

The Advisory Audit

Your leadership team goes through a structured consulting process to strengthen your program's design and support the relationships advisory is meant to build. Through six online modules, asynchronous team discussion, and live consulting sessions, you'll audit your program and produce clear, usable materials to help train your advisors in Phase 2.

Phase 2 - All Advisors

The Advisor's Playbook

Every advisor on your faculty, new or returning, moves through eight skills-based modules to build the mindset and practical capacity needed to do the relational work advisory requires. Advisors engage individually at their own pace, balancing honest self-reflection with concrete skill development.

WHAT YOUR SCHOOL GAINS

Phase 1 - Advisory Audit

A stronger shared understanding of the purpose and role of advisory at your school.

A clearer picture of what is working well and where your program may need attention.

Actionable next steps for strengthening advisory over time.

Updated systems, expectations, and resources to better support advisors and students.

Phase 2 - Advisor's Playbook

A clearer sense of what strong advisory looks like in practice.

Practical tools for creating connected, productive advisory experiences.

Strategies for building trust and meaningful connections with advisees.

Greater confidence with unstructured time, and the inner readiness to support students well.
